

October 30th - November 3rd 2017

CICR and AST announce their collaboration to expand on their leadership for peace, reconciliation and conflict resolution in Atlantic Canada.

The CICR 'Third Party Neutral Conflict Resolution Certificate' will be offered in Halifax, Nova Scotia on the beautiful campus of Atlantic School of Theology (AST). Through this unique, comprehensive and accredited four module program (160 hours), participants learn how to uncover the sources and dynamics of conflicts, clarify intentions, and facilitate the development of solutions toward reconciliation. The first training module will be offered in the fall of 2017 and participants will receive a 40 hour certificate. A 160 hour Third Party Neutral Program Certificate is issued upon completion of all four modules. Please refer to the CICR website for further information: <http://www.cicr-icrc.ca>

What is TPN 1?

This course is the prerequisite for all of the other TPN modules. Participants will:

- Explore the spectrum of conflict resolution.
- Examine the layers of conflict with an emphasis on deep-rooted / identity-based issues.
- Discover the core attributes of community-based conflict resolution.
- Learn the core principles for being an effective Third Party Neutral.
- Practice various techniques, including guidelines for mediators, the mediation process and process checklists.
- Be introduced to facilitation, group dynamics and framing of issues through role plays.

Trainer: Patricia Brady, B.A, M.Ed, CCC, Certified Mediator (FMC) and Accredited Peace Professional. As a certified mediator and facilitator with more than 15 years of experience, Patricia is an expert in conflict resolution. Passionately dedicated, she has taught all four modules of the TPN program since 2010.
